State Soldiers for Decoration.

By an order which was issued Saturday by Adj. Gen. P. P. Johnston the State troops are permitted to take part in the ceremonies on both Confederate and Federal decoration days.
The State troops may turn out in uniform, with full equipment, and march in any parade, but they will not be paid by the State while on duty. This is the first time that an order of this kind has been issued.

Girl's Neck Broken.

Effie Townsley, the 10-year old daughter of Samuel Townsley, of Jacksonville, near Ashland, was found dead on the road near her home. The girl had been riding a spirited horse which became frightened and ran away with her, throwing her, off dragging her over the rough road with her feet caught in the stirrup, breaking her neck as well as nearly every bone in her body. She had been dead some time when found.

Rewarded.

As a reward for rather unprecedented political services, Henry M. Denham, member of the Kentucky Legislature, has been named by Senator Bradley, as operator of one of the Senate elevators at a salary of $1,400 per year, says a dispatch from Washington. During the legislative contest in which Senator Bradley was named, Denham, although ill of pneumonia, insisted on being carried to the State House on a cot. Then, at the close of the long drawn out contest, when the final vote on Senator had been taken, but had not yet been announced, Captain Longmire, Sergeant at Arms, drew his revolver, presumably with the intention of starting a fight on the floor of the Legislature.
Without an instant's hesitation, Denham arose from his sick bed, drew his own revolver and walking over to the Captain, said quietly: "Captain remember that when the firing begins you and I are paired." The two glared at each other for a moment, and then both returned their revolvers to their pockets.

High Bridge Chautauqua.

A chautauqua will be held at High Bridge, Ky. June 18 to 28, under the auspices of Dr. W. L. Davidson, President, National Bureau at Washington, Dr. Geo. R. Stuart, Southern Lecturer and Humorist and Dr. R. M. Stand-ifer, Lecturer.

They will give one of the greatest programs ever offered in Kentucky.
Governors, Senators and many other prominent speakers, lecturers, Humorists, etc., will be on the program.

The special days will be June 20, 22, 24 and 27. An auditorium will be built to seat 4,000 people. Special individual tents for use of those attending Chautauqua will be placed in High Bridge Park. This will afford accommodations for those who desire to spend a pleasant week in camp.

For accommodation in tents address R.
M. Standifer, High Bridge, Ky. A dining room will be especially fitted up to serve meals. The officials of the Queen & Crescent Route will make special rates during the Chautauqua and run special trains.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES.

—Mr. W. J. Steele, of Woodford, cheered 32 yearling lambs that averaged over 7½ pounds to the fleece.

—The Danville Roller Mills has purchased over one hundred thousand bushels of wheat at the thrasher for one dollar per bushel.

—Boardman & Hopkins, of Little Rock, have sold their purchase of 20,- 000 pounds of wool to Speyer & Son, of Lexington.

—Elmer Boardman sold to Wm.
Thomas, of near Plum, 25 2-year-old cattle averaging 900 pounds, for a good price.

—W. G. McClintock shipped to the Cincinnati market a car load of fat hogs averaging 200 pounds for which he paid 6½ cents per pound.

—Mr. Henry W. Edwards of Woodford, made his first cutting of alfalfa last week and got a ton to the acre.
Last year he made four cuttings and this year he thinks he will get five.

—The highest price ever paid for a nine-day-old suckling mule colt in Bourbon was paid when William Thomas a farmer of near Plum, this county sold one to Thomas Robertson, of Bath county for $155, the colt to be delivered at weaning time, the purchaser assuming all risk.

—The Dark Tobacco Growers' Association has made large sales to the American Tobacco Company, the Italian Regies and the Spanish Government. The sales over the district will aggregate ten thousand hogheads and at Clarksville nearly four thousand hogheads.

—Bourbon county farmers are busy making preparations to begin tobacco setting this week. They have been delayed by the late rains, when the setting does begin it will be carried right along until the big crop planned for is all out. Nowadays they do not have to wait for a season, but with tobacco setters they can go right along with the work whenever they are ready.

—Letcher Bannister sold to a Tenner-see party a four-year-old saddle mare for $235. Grant Denton sold to J. A.
Wilson a three-year-old pony mare for $150. Mr. McClintock sold to Charles Thompson, of Lexington, a pair of five-year-old mules for $450. Mr. Mc-Clintock says regarding the mule market, that mules unless they are worth $100 per pair are in but little demand what for mules of extra good quality, size and condition are active at from $400 to $500 per pair.

"Feeble Folk."

Tolstoy has incurred the wrath of Ex President Roosevelt by saying that "Bryan represented the party of peace" in the last campaign, and the "mighty hunter" pauses long enough to administer a rebuke to the Russian philosopher. He says that Tolstoy wiper the blood off of his face and take a back seat.

No wonder that Mr. Roosevelt does not like Tolstoy—they represent opposite schools of thought. Mr. Roosevelt is the exponent of the brute force idea—with him man is an animal and must be ready to kill any other animal that opposes his plans. With Tolstoy man is the spiritual agent of God and is bound to observe spiritual laws.

Mr. Roosevelt thinks that man would degenerate without an occasional opportunity for blood letting; Tolstoy believes that love is greater than force and the man is ennobled by accepting love as the controlling principle of life. Naturally Mr. Roosevelt thinks that the world can be scared into peace when armaments become great enough to make each nation afraid of every other nation. Tolstoy believes that the spirit that leads nations to desire big navies will lead them to use them without excuse, and he insists that a good example will do more than a threat to prevent war.

This fundamental difference between Roosevelt and Tolstoy is not, however, new. When Jesus visited a village of Samaria and the people refused to receive him some of the disciples suggested that fire should be called down from heaven to avenge the insult; but the master rebuked them and said: "Ye know not what manner of spirit ye are of; for the Son of Man has not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them." Suppose he had said: "We will thrash them until they understand who we are," how different would have been the history of Christianity! Compare, if you will, the swaggering, bullying, brutal doctrine of Roosevelt with the golden rule of Tolstoy and the amendment, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Again, Christ answered one who would use force to defend him by saying: "They that draw the sword shall perish by the sword."

Tolstoy has good authority for his position—better than Mr. Roosevelt can offer for his bullying and swaggering policy. Mr. Roosevelt will hardly charge all the followers of The Prince of Peace with being "feeble folk and fanatic folk," says the Commoner.

Where Fashion Abides.

In response to the question, Whence come the fashions? it has been bluntly said that they are as likely to originate in the provinces as in Paris, New York or London. There seems to reason in the assertion. No one great city could possibly devise all the extravaganzas of dress which from time to time confront us. The extreme of fashion is usually an exaggeration of bad taste, and it cannot be that the great cities have a monopoly in that line.

Herr Teufelsdröckh, eminent as the philosopher of clothes, held that the first use of dress was not warmth or decency, but ornament. If we accept this conclusion as a fact it is easy enough to account for the fashions. It must be that they are devised by person of great vanity and little judgment. Lord Chesterfield, always fond of the elegancies, said that affectation in dress implies a flaw in the understanding. Yet no one was more a slave of fashion than he. Steele never saw people overdressed without a desire to prune them. One of the unhappiest hours in Dr. Johnson's life was that in which, to conform to foolish custom, he exchanged his rusty brown suit for gorgeous scarlet plush and silk with gold braid and gold lace. It has been the habit of imitators always to pattern after the worst and not the best.

This human weakness appears to be growing so far as clothing is concerned, for the old fashioned men and women, familiar enough to most generations in the past, have disappeared.

Nobody is old fashioned now. Nobody's conservatism is staunch enough to withstand the quick glance of surprise or the smile of ridicule. Nobody, if a man, faces the world in blue and brass and breeches, or, if a woman, in the quaint bonnets and gowns of long ago. These things held their own for many a day, but they protest no more.

In one hundred years men have practically emancipated themselves from tailors, milliners and perfumers. The top is almost unknown. If in the same period women have fallen more and more under the influence of fashion, will it help matters any to proclaim from the housetops that the jade holds court in the gay centres of population but in the back counties where Arabella uses a peach basket for a bonnet because she has nothing else at hand?

Reincarnation.

A Hindu theosophist who is now lecturing in Chicago says that "instinctively some men and women repel us." He explains it by saying: "We are at a loss to understand this until we realize that we have known them in other lives and that this antipathy is the result of indirect memory." This explains the strong antipathy which we at one felt toward the Payne bill as soon as it came into our presence. It is doubtless due to the fact that it is a reincarnation of the McKinley bill and the Dingley bill. But this does not reconcile us to the doctrine of reincarnation.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-founded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits and made them Remedies of Known Composition.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his medicines are of such excellent quality that he is not afraid to subject them to the closest scrutiny. Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, his famous medicine for weak stomach, liver or biliousness and all curable diseases, wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works of all the different schools of practice containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest terms known to the medical world, the value of the ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any address on postal card or by letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak nerves, over-worked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed long years ago by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their women. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the Licorice as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the use of not a few of our most valuable native medicinal plants was gained from the Indians. As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting disordered menstruation, relieving nervousness and purifying the blood, toning up the nerves and bringing the system to a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

The extreme of fashion is usually an exaggeration of bad taste, and it cannot be that the great cities have a monopoly in that line.

Herr Teufelsdröckh, eminent as the philosopher of clothes, held that the first use of dress was not warmth or decency, but ornament. If we accept this conclusion as a fact it is easy enough to account for the fashions. It must be that they are devised by person of great vanity and little judgment. Lord Chesterfield, always fond of the elegancies, said that affectation in dress implies a flaw in the understanding. Yet no one was more a slave of fashion than he. Steele never saw people overdressed without a desire to prune them. One of the unhappiest hours in Dr. Johnson's life was that in which, to conform to foolish custom, he exchanged his rusty brown suit for gorgeous scarlet plush and silk with gold braid and gold lace. It has been the habit of imitators always to pattern after the worst and not the best.

Nobody is old fashioned now. Nobody's conservatism is staunch enough to withstand the quick glance of surprise or the smile of ridicule. Nobody, if a man, faces the world in blue and brass and breeches, or, if a woman, in the quaint bannets and gowns of long ago. These things held their own for many a day, but they protest no more.

In one hundred years men have practically emancipated themselves from tailors, milliners and perfumers. The fop is almost unknown. If in the same period women have fallen more and more under the influence of fashion, will it help matters any to proclaim from the housetops that the jade holds court in the gay centres of population but in the back counties where Arabella uses a peach basket for a bonnet because she has nothing else at hand?

Reincarnation.

A Hindu theosophist who is now lecturing in Chicago says that "instinctively some men and women repel us." He explains it by saying: "We are at a loss to understand this until we realize that we have known them in other lives and that this antipathy is the result of indirect memory." This explains the strong antipathy which we at one felt toward the Payne bill as soon as it came into our presence. It is doubtless due to the fact that it is a reincarnation of the McKinley bill and the Dingley bill. But this does not reconcile us to the doctrine of reincarnation.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-founded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret medicinal compounds, Dr. E. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of out-of-date medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them remedies of known composition.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the closest scrutiny. Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, his famous medicine for weak stomach, and liver or biliousness and all curable diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different kinds of drugs, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card, or by letter, to Dr. E. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents, and that they are made from natural, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines were known to the Indians as "Squaw Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native medicinal plants was gained from the Indians. As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, promoting menstruation, and relieving the distressing painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. ## TEETH AS THEY GROW

The Way Nature Forms and Fixes
Them In the Gums.

THEY ARE NOT MADE OF BONE.

Teeth Are Really Skin Structures In Respect to Their Mode of Origin.
The Variety of Form Which Adapts
Them For Varying Uses.Familiar to everybody as are the teeth, few persons save those who have dipped into their history viewed from the scientific side, can form an adequate idea regarding their true nature. If the man in the street were asked to construct a classified list of his bodily belongings he would almost certainly place teeth in the section which included the bones. There appears reason for his choice. Teeth are hard and bone-like in structure, and they are fixed in the jaws. These facts would seem on the face of things to justify the inclusion of the teeth in the list of skeletal structures. This view of the teeth, however, is readily proved to be incorrect. We have only to appeal to nature's way of making a tooth—in other words, to study its development—to assure ourselves that teeth are not bones at all, but structures of a very different kind.The first indication of tooth formation begins in very early life with the formation of a groove in the gum, or mucous membrane lining the mouth.
This furrow is the birthplace of the teeth. From the groove arise as many little projections of the gum as there are to be teeth. Each projection we call a papilla.Now, this little body contains a pleth-ful supply of blood vessels, destined to bring to it the raw material—food
—out of which not teeth alone, but all
other organs, tissues and secretions, are manufactured. The papilla, besides, is composed of and particularly invested with living cells of special kind. These cells are to be regarded as the workmen which fabricate the tooth. The material specially required for tooth formation consists of compounds of lime associated with other substances.Around the papilla and upon it, as
on a mold, the hard material of the tooth is deposited. It is elaborated into a substance which, under the microscope, shows a special structure
of its own, differing widely from that which is represented in bone. The great bulk of a tooth consists of ivory
or dentine, as it is also called. This is a dense, hard substance which shows a texture composed of an infinite variety of microscopic tubules.But at the crown of the tooth especially we meet with a layer of different kind and of still harder consistence. This is the enamel, which ranks as the hardest substance in the body. Its position on the crown of the tooth bears a relation to the resistance to wear and tear the tooth is intended to exhibit, the softer ivory being thus protected from the obvious
results of the process of attrition.
Thus on the papilla, as on a living
mold, the tooth is formed, its substance coming to cover, as in an envelope, the little projection itself.Long before the tooth, however, is completed the groove in the gum has become partitioned off into a series of sacs or compartments. The furrow itself becomes converted into a tube
by the upward growth and union of its edges in the middle line. Then succeeds division into sacs, in each of which a papilla is present and in each of which a developing tooth is contained.If the hard materials of the tooth be found around the papilla we discover thus that the tooth is a hollow and not a solid structure, for the pulp inside every tooth, a substance richly supplied with nerves and blood vessels, really represents the papilla of the early stages. The tooth's nourishment is thus duly provided for, since processes of the pulp pass into the minute tubules of the ivory and so contribute to the maintenance of the vitality of
the organ.When the tooth is completed within its sac, all that remains is for it to appear in the jaw, in which provision has been made for its fixation. A tooth "cuts" the gum when through upward pressure on the sac it bursts through its investment and takes the place nature has mapped out for it in the armamentarium of the mouth.Now, in all this history there is no hint given us of any connection between bone formation and tooth development save indeed for the connection between the two structures in the
jaw. The gum is the present tissue of the teeth, and the gum is simply the skin layer of the body folded inward
at the mouth to form the lining membrane of that cavity, while it is continued onward, with variations in its organization, to form the lining of the digestive tubes as well. Teeth are therefore truly skin structures in respect of their mode of origin, which,
after all, is the surest and indeed the
only test of the nature of any living tissue or part.By all odds the very longest tooth in
the world is that of the narwhal,
which grows into a twisted ivory pole
often exceeding six feet in length.—
A. Wilson in Illustrated London News.

EGYPTIAN BARON

Is a black horse 15.2. A grand individual and one of the best representatives of the great Baron Wilkes, now known as the Futurity family. He is one of the fastest best headed horses in Kentucky, and has been a mile over my three-quarter track, which is at least three seconds slower than Lexington, in 2:09 1/4, last half in 1:03 1/4, last quarter in :30 1/4. Although a pacer, he was a natural and fast trotter, and could trot in 2:40 at 2 years old. Was raced a little last season for education, and proved himself a game, level headed race horse, and if he stays right, we predict a record of 2:05 or better this year. He has served a few mares, and his colts are good individuals and fast. Egyptian Baron will serve a few approved mares at $25 to insure a Living Foal.

Care taken, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes.
Money due in all cases if mare changes hands or is parted with. Mares kept on grass at $1 per week.

TEETH AS THEY GROW

The Way Nature Forms and Fixes
Them in the Gums.

THEY ARE NOT MADE OF BONE.

Teeth Are Really Skin Structures in Respect to Their Mode of Origin.
The Variety of Form Which Adapts
Them For Varying Uses.Familiar to everybody as are the
teeth, few persons, save those who
have dipped into their history viewed
from the scientific side, can form an
adequate idea regarding their true nature. If the man in the street were asked to construct a classified list of
his bodily belongings he would almost
certainly place teeth in the section
which included the bones. There appears reason for his choice. Teeth are hard and bone-like in structure, and
they are fixed in the jaws. These facts
would seem on the face of things to
justify the inclusion of the teeth in
the list of skeletal structures. This
view of the teeth, however, is readily proved to be incorrect. We have only
to appeal to nature's way of making a
tooth—in other words, to study its development—to assure ourselves that
teeth are not bones at all, but structures of a very different kind.The first indication of tooth formation begins in very early life with the
formation of a groove in the gum, or
mucous membrane lining the mouth.
This groove is the birthplace of the tooth. From the groove arise as many little projections of the gum as there are to be teeth. Each projection we call a papilla.Now, this little body contains a plentiful supply of blood vessels, destined to bring to it the raw material—Blood
—out of which not teeth alone, but all
other organs, tissues and secretions,
are manufactured. The papilla, besides, is composed of and particularly
invested with living cells of special kind. These cells are to be regarded as the workmen which fabricate the
tooth. The material specially required
for tooth formation consists of compounds of lime associated with other
substances.Around the papilla and upon it, as
on a mold, the hard material of the tooth is deposited. It is elaborated
into a substance which, under the
microscope, shows a special structure
of its own, differing widely from that
which is represented in bone. The
great bulk of a tooth consists of ivory
or dentine, as it is also called. This
is a dense, hard substance which
shows a texture composed of an infinite variety of microscopic tubules.But at the crown of the tooth especially we meet with a layer of different kind and of still harder consistence. This is the enamel, which ranks as the hardest substance in the body. Its position on the crown of
the tooth bears a relation to the resistance to wear and tear the tooth is intended to exhibit, the softer ivory being thus protected from the obvious
results of the process of attrition.
Thus on the papilla, as on a living
mold, the tooth is formed, its substance coming to cover, as in an envelope, the little projection itself.Long before the tooth, however, is completed the groove in the gum has
become partitioned off into a series of sacs or compartments. The furrow
itself becomes converted into a tube
by the upward growth and union of
its edges in the middle line. Then succeeds division into sacs, in each of which a papilla is present and in each of which a developing tooth is contained.If the hard materials of the tooth be
found around the papilla we discover that the tooth is a hollow and not a solid structure, for the pulp inside
every tooth, a substance richly supplied with nerves and blood vessels,
really represents the papilla of the early stages. The tooth's nourishment
is thus duly provided for, since processes of the pulp pass into the minute
tubules of the ivory and so contribute
to the maintenance of the vitality of
the organ.When the tooth is completed within
its sac, all that remains is for it to appear in the jaw, in which provision
has been made for its fixation. A tooth "cuts" the gum when through
upward pressure on the sac it bursts
through its investment and takes the
place nature has mapped out for it in
the armamentarium of the mouth.Now, in all this history there is no hint given us of any connection between bone formation and tooth development save indeed for the connection between the two structures in the
jaw. The gum is the present tissue of the tooth, and the gum is simply the skin layer of the body folded inward
at the mouth to form the lining membrane of that cavity, while it is continued onward, with variations in its
organization, to form the lining of the digestive tubes as well. Teeth are
therefore truly skin structures in respect of their mode of origin, which,
after all, is the surest and indeed the
only test of the nature of any living tissue or part.By all odds the very longest tooth in
the world is that of the narwhal,
which grows into a twisted ivory pole
often exceeding six feet in length.—
A. Wilson in Illustrated London News.

EGYPTIAN BARON

Is a black horse 15.2. A grand individual and one of the best representatives of the great Baron Wilkes, now known as the Futurity family. He is one of the fastest best headed horses in Kentucky, and has been a mile over my three-quarter track, which is at least three seconds slower than Lexington, in 2:09 1/4, last half in 1:03 1/4, last quarter in :30 1/4. Although a pacer, he was a natural and fast trotter, and could trot in 2:40 at 2 years old. Was raced a little last season for education, and proved himself a game, level headed race horse, and if he stays right, we predict a record of 2:05 or better this year. He has served a few mares, and his colts are good individuals and fast. Egyptian Baron will serve a few approved mares at $25 to insure a living foal.

Care taken, but no responsibility assumed for accidents or escapes.
Money due in all cases if mare changes hands or is parted with. Mares kept on grass at $1 per week.

Cut Worms Appear.

A special from Carlisle, Ky., says: "Tobacco growers throughout this section of the State seem to be up against another proposition. This time it is the cutworm which threatens great destruction to early set tobacco plants. To the growers the outlook has already been gloomy enough on account of the scarcity of plants, but now many growers are afraid to set out plants on account of the ground being alive with cutworms. The first trouble of the growers came in the failure of old seed to come up and after many of those whose plant beds bid fair to produce well were destroyed by the heavy rains and floods, and now some growers report cutworms so numerous as to make it very risky to put out plants. "Already much ground through this section which was prepared for tobacco has been planted in corn, and much more will be unless plants grow out better than is now expected."

Democrats Restored.

Franklin MacVeagh, Secretary of the Treasury, has ordered the Collector of the Terre Haute, Indiana, Revenue Collection District, to restore seven Democrats to their former rating as gaugers and to reduce thirteen Republicans promoted at the time the Democrats were reduced. It was shown by an investigation that the changes were made for political reasons.

Auto Turns Turtle.

An automobile accident resulting in the serious injury of one man as well as the shaking up of four others in a lively fashion occurred Friday night on the Winchester pike about six miles from Lexington, and as a result of the smashup Chief of Police Charles Carroll, of Versailles, is at the Good Samaritan Hospital. Chief Carroll, while not injured externally, was caught under the heavy Cadillac machine, which belonged to him, and was badly mangled, suffering serious internal injuries. The accident took place about 4:45 o'clock and was the result of muddy roads, fast driving and the failure of the owner of the machine to have the chain safeguards placed over the wheels of his car before he started to make a record trip from Winchester back to Lexington. Those in the automobile at the time of the mishap were Chief Carroll, Messrs. Will Graddy, Fleming Meek, Ora Moore and Wade Hampton. Their escape from death is considered remarkable, both by the members of the party themselves and by those who happened to see the machine and the conditions surrounding the accident a short time after it occurred.

BIRTHS.

—Born, at Little Rock, on Friday, to the wife of A. C. Cline, a son.

DEATHS.

—Dr. Ernest L. Stevens, aged 31, died on Thursday night at Paducah, Ky., his former home, where he had come to recuperate his health. The deceased had been a popular dentist in Paris for ten years and was a favorite with those with whom he came in contact. He was an untiring and zealous member of the Baptist church, being the Superintendent of the Sunday School. He was a conscientious Christian gentleman and held in the highest esteem by all who knew him.

He was a member of Bourbon Lodge of Odd Fellows and of Bourbon Camp, and belonged to Henry Clay Lodge, Fraternal Union of America. Dr. Stevens was also a member of the Paris School Board.

He is survived by his wife, nee Miss Hattie Williams, and little daughter Mamie Stevens, aged 9, and an invalid son Ernest Stevens, aged 6.

The funeral took place Saturday afternoon from the home of his parents in Paducah. Services being conducted by Rev. G. W. Clarke, of Paris. Interment at Paducah.

—At the residence of her son, Mr. Grant Hughes, near Jackstown, Mrs. Massena Hughes, died of Paralysis, aged 71 years, 3 months and 20 days. Mrs. Hughes was beloved by a large circle of friends and was a noble Christian woman. She is survived by three sons Sherman Hughes, of Paris; Grant Hughes and Jasper Hughes, of Nicholas county. The funeral services occurred Friday morning from the residence at 11 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. J. W. Harris. The interment took place in the Carlisle cemetery.

Worth Hearing.

The Philharmonic Concert directed by Mr. Albert Morehead, for benefit of piano fund for Public School will be opened by a splendidly trained chorus of children on the night of June 1.

Bourbon Champion Defeated.

Mr. Woolfolk Henderson, Lexington's best amateur trap shooter, and a member of the Fayette Gun Club, won the highest honor in this State when he defeated 200 of Kentucky's best gunmen at Louisville Friday for the State championship. Mr. Henderson finished the event with a total of 92 birds to his credit, out of a total of 100 birds shot at. With the honor went a handsome solid silver loving cup and a neat cash prize. Finishing next to him were Mr. J. C. Bond, of Louisville, with an average of 89; Mr. V. K. Dodge of Lexington, with an average of 88, and Mr. T. H. Clay, of Paris, with a total of 87. This is the second time Mr. Henderson has won this record event, his other successful effort being in 1905. It is also the third consecutive time that Mr. Dodge has finished in third place. The other recent winners of the championship were Mr. T. H. Clay, who won it in 1903-04-05 and 1905, and Mr. Praggoff, of Louisville, who won it in 1906.

Imported Autos.

Imported automobiles under the new tariff law must pay a duty equal to one-half their value, if the action of the Senate, taken Friday, stands. The House provision for a duty of 45 per cent ad valorem was accepted as to bicycles and motorcycles. A duty of 35 cents per hundred feet was adopted on electric light carbon of the kind most generally imported, this being an increase of 30 cents over the House provision and an apparent reduction of 25 cents over the present law.

Want Fair Trial.

The General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church Friday prepared an appeal to President Taft, asking him to make representations to the Belgian Government that will insure a fair trial to the two missionaries who are to be tried in the Congo Free State on the charge of libel.

Handsome Present.

Mr. W. L. Bramblett, of Carlisle, has presented to Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Kehoe a complete driving outfit, consisting of a handsome bay horse, stylish carriage, harness and other equipments, all of first quality and brand new—except the horse which is a few years old.

Three Straight from the Millers

The Bourbonites made it three straight from the Shelbyville Millers by the score of 4 to 3. The attendance only numbered two hundred owing to a shower that fell proceeding the game which was not called till 4:30 o'clock. The diamond was soggy and errors were numerous. Good base running was impossible and accurate fielding and throwing uncertain. Ellsworth for the visitors was an enigma till the fourth when Paris batted four singles and a triple, which netted three runs.

The game opened with the visitors at the bat, who made things look dangerous. Tate grounded Schmidt to Felix. Kircher fanned. Daugherty hit a hot one by Schmidt that rolled to center and the runner was safe going full the way to second on a bad throw.

Kuhn singled to right. Daugherty going to third, where he died. Vannadore grounded, Elgin to Felix. Only three Bourbonites faced Ellsworth, the side being retired in one two three order.

In the second the Millers again made a stir Damascus doubling to right for two bases. Then Gruncire and Hornback fanned, while Ellsworth retired the side on an easy grounder, Elgin to Felix.

For the locals in their half nothing could be obtained off Ellsworth, who seemed to have good control. The visitors had trouble in the third when a snail swept over the diamond. Tate popped a fly to Felix and was out. Misjudged Kircher's fly to left, the runner taking second. Daugherty flied to third, Kuhn singled to center scoring Kircher, the former taking third on the throw to the plate to intercept which went wild.

Rain was falling and the ball was hard to control. Dugger scoring the next two up to first on balls filling the bases. In a steal of second by Vannadore, Kuhn scored on a wild throw. Gruncire flied to center retiring the side.

Paris went out quickly in their half, three men making ineffectual attempts at hitting the ball.

Shelbyville could do nothing in the fourth.

The Bourbonites remembering the slaughter in Sunday's game came up with blood in their eyes.

Ochs flied to left, Felix and Hannigan singled. Both men were advanced a base on a bad throw and a moment later scored on Barnett's triple to left, Scott drove a beauty to left, Barnett scoring. Reed singled to center, Scott taking second. Both men were left on bases.

Shelbyville could not find Dugger in the fifth and retired easily. Paris put another over in their half on two hits and a sacrifice. In the sixth the visitors scored their third and last run. After one out Gruncire reached first on Scott's fumble of his grounder. Hornback flied to left both Reed and Ochs colliding in the attempt to catch the ball, the latter making the put out and the former being considerably knocked out.

Ellsworth grounded, the ball bouncing wild and the runner taking first.

Tate singled to center scoring Gruncire. Kircher grounded to short, forcing Ellsworth and retiring the side. This ended the run getting and as darkness was creeping over the scene Umpire Rasche called the game. Paris goes to Shelbyville for games today and Wednesday. The following is the summary:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7

Paris.....0 0 0 3 1 0 x—4

Shelbyville.....0 0 0 1 0 1 0—3

Batteries—Dugger and Elgin; Ellsworth and Kuhn. Hits—Paris 8;

Shelbyville 8. Errors—Paris 3; Shelbyville 2. Two base hits—Barnett.

Struck out—by Dugger 5; Ellsworth 1.

Base on balls—off Dugger 2; off Ellsworth 1.

Left on bases—Paris 6; Shelbyville 8. Time of game—1:45.

Umpire—Rasche.

The Shelbyville team opened here Saturday for three games. The game Saturday was well attended although it was considered a busy day for base ball.

The game was a good one, having a number of brilliant plays throughout. Pitcher Vannadore was hit in the stomach by a hot liner from Quinlan's bat and fell in a faint, he was relieved by Hogarty.

The chief feature of the game was two sensational one hand stops by Barnett, the crack third baseman of the Paris team, making an unassisted double play on one of them. The Shelbyville boys played a snappy game of ball. The score was 7 to 1 in favor of Paris.

There were at least 1,200 people present to witness the game Sunday between the same two clubs, which resulted in a score of 5 to 0 in favor of Paris. Linville and Kircher were the battery for Shelbyville, and Winchell and Elgin for the local team. It was a fast game in every particular as the score shows. Winchell for the home team was invincible. It was his second game pitched since being signed by Paris and both were shutout games.

Linville did well for the visitors until the sixth inning, when the sluggers of the Paris team fell upon him and hit hard, making five runs the only made during the game. The following is result of game by innings:

Shelbyville.....0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 3 4

Batteries—Winchell and Elgin; Linville and Kircher. Two base hits—Ochs.

Three base hits—Scott. Double plays—Scott to Hannigan. Struck out—by Winchell 5; by Linville 3. Left on bases—Paris 9; Shelbyville 6. Time of game—1:22. Umpire—Rasche.

NOTES.

Scott, the fast shortstop of local team was there with his usual three-bagger and double play.

Catcher, Elgin made three assists in Sunday's game. Jeff is also getting his batting eye in great shape.

Too much cannot be said for each member of the Paris team as lined up at present, for they are on their game and playing pennant winning ball at the present time. Manager Schmidt has got them going some.

Seaback, the fast second baseman for Paris, sprained an ankle making a slide to second. He was carried from the field. It is truly hoped that he will be able to resume play in a few days after careful nursing of his ankle. Hannigan was put on second base and Manager Schmidt went out in right field.

The building is large and contains quite an amount of valuable lumber, which is in a good state of preservation. Suitable for barn, stable or outbuildings. Please call and inspect. The property can be bought right. This is your opportunity.

MRS. LOU F. CONWAY.

—The Kentucky Presbytery of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church was in session here from Friday through Sunday. The little band is small but vigilant and in all probability makes the best report considering its strength of any like organization in Kentucky. Its being in session here brings out a bit of history that might prove interesting to many readers.

This organization is the Southern branch of the denomination which the United Presbyterian church is the Northern branch. The distinctive principle of the two bodies is the exclusive use of the Psalms of inspiration. The majority of the churches of this branch are in North and South Carolina and Tennessee, although there are organizations in all the Southern States except Louisiana. Its career in Kentucky has been rather a checkered one. There was for many years an organization in Lexington, at which place the Presbytery was organized in 1861, with Rev. Adam Rankin, moderator, and Rev. John Steele, clerk. Rev. Rankin was pastor at Lexington and Rev. Steele at Millersburg.

The building in Lexington was on Walnut St., and has just recently been removed to give place to the new high school building.

Rev. Rankin conducted a school for boys and a report from the Presbytery in 1863 shows that there were 125 boys in attendance.

Rev. Robert H. Bishop, who was pastor of Ebenezer in Jessamine county was also a professor in Old Transylvania University. Both of these ministers who owned considerable property in the city churches in Flemingsburg, Shelbyville and Shiloh, in Nicholas county, have also disappeared from the roll.

News was received on Friday of the death of Ruling Elder Andrew Rankin Guyn, of Hair Lick, aged 30. Mr. Guyn bore the name of Rev. Rankin and had heard the latter preach in his church at Lexington.

The meeting was called to order by Rev. Reid, of Louisville, in the absence of Rev. Lewis Hickman, moderator, who could not be here. After the sermon by Rev. Reid, the Presbytery took a recess until 3 p. m. at which time a short business session was held. Rev. Reid was elected moderator for the coming year.

The assessments of the various churches in foreign and home missionary work, was read and adopted. The Millersburg church is assessed more than twenty dollars for each of these causes. Her report shows that she pays more than her assessment, the church is small and this is nearly three dollars per capita.

At 4 p. m. Rev. Reid preached another excellent sermon, the attendance during the afternoon was good.

The Presbytery reassembled at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, after a short song and prayer service, the minutes of the previous day were read and approved.

The committee on finances made its report, most of the churches have met all their obligations during the past year. At 10:30 the celebration of the 400th anniversary of the birth of John Calvin was begun. Three able addresses were delivered. Rev. Reid, of Louisville gave an interesting talk on "The Life Story of Calvin," beginning with the little boy when but twelve years of age and following him through his varied career, to the close of his wonderful life at the age of 55.

"Our Debt to Calvin," a "Civil," R. S. Sanders, of the Presbyterian church, b, "Theological" local pastor of the Associate Reformed church, Rev. G. L. Kerr, were also ably handled.

At noon the Presbytery took a recess until 3 p. m., at which time the unfinished business was completed, reports from the various churches were read and approved. The Presbytery extended a vote of approval to the Millersburg church for their handsome new church building just completed. Resolutions were drawn up in memory of the late Andrew Rankin Guyn, for many years he has been the ruling member of the Presbytery. A vote of thanks was extended to the people of Millersburg for their entertainment, after the singing of the 23d Psalm and a short prayer by Rev. Reid the Presbytery adjourned to meet at Jonesville next September.

Rev. G. L. Kerr preached the funeral of Mr. Andrew Rankin Guyn at Paint Lick Sunday.

One Performance Only.

Owing to the fact that Bourbon College has secured the Paris Grand for their Commencement Exercises, tonight (Tuesday) there will be only one vaudeville performance—9:30 p. m.

Big Crowd.

There was a big crowd in town yesterday to attend the circus. The parade was not large but up to the average. They gave first class performance.

Machine Lacerated Fingers.

Clayton Crump, employed in the steam bakery of George Rosenfoss at the corner of Seventh and Main streets, had three fingers of his left hand badly lacerated at an early hour Friday morning by getting his hand caught in the machinery.

Blue Grass Backward.

It is said that blue grass is backward, and the big crop of seed obtained a year ago, will not be duplicated in Bourbon this year. Farmers estimate that unless an improvement takes place the yield will only aggregate about one third of usual crop.

Forger Caught.

Elias Johnson, wanted here on the charge of forging a check to the amount of $5 on Jasper Offutt, was lodged in jail by detective Baker, of Lexington Friday. The check was indorsed by W. O. Butler and cashed by the firm of Lavin & Connell. When pronounced a forgery by Mr. Offutt, Butler caused a warrant to be issued for Johnson, who skipped the country. Grover Butler, a son of W. O. Butler, happened to be in Lexington Friday and spied Johnson. He made known his presence to Detective Baker, who placed Johnson under arrest.

The Paris Grand.

The Paris Grand program for this week is full of new features, and with such a program there is no reason why the crowds should not be record breakers.

Jerome Radin, a fun maker who has starred in several successful operas, will give a touch of fun to the program with his witty sayings and witty ways. Hawley and Olcott have an unusual smart skit "Just Married a Week," which has been a cream wherever presented. They have drawn away from the usual style and work along a way of their own and obtain results which would otherwise be impossible. "Just Married a Week" will be an innovation to the local vaudeville stage, as there is a good plot which affords plenty of scope for the excellent talent of the personell, who appeared for six consecutive months in New York City, and have proved a big hit and scream from coast to coast, having played in all the largest cities on the following vaudeville circuits: Keith, Proctor, Williams, Pole and Mozart.

Mr. Hawley, who was formerly with Miss Flo Irwin, is a comedian of exceptional personality power and his work as a "Benedict" is never overdrawn. Miss Olcott is a beautiful young woman possessing distinct individuality and much talent. Their act is written by Mr. Hawley and is one of the best laugh producers upon the vaudeville stage.

PERSONAL MENTION.

In Memoriam.

Lines most tenderly inscribed to Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. James on the death of their beloved son who died May 15th, 1902.

In the strength, and pride, of young manhood,

'Neath the soil we laid him today.

Our darling, our idol, our loved one,

O God! Teach us now, how to pray.

Teach us now O "Heavenly Father!"

Teach us now, "Most Holy One,"

From the depths of our bitter sorrow—

To say—"Thy Will, be done."

Look down O Heavenly Father;

From thy blessed home above;

See our hearts all bleeding, and breaking—

Come to us in pity and love.

Come in thy loving compassion,

O! Help us this burden to bear;

We are fainting beneath it our Father,

O! make us thy tender care.

Teach us perfect submission—O Father!

But let us hold fast to thy hand;

And in the "Sometime—the Sometime"— —hereafter—

May we "know and understand."

That our crushing trials Father—

Were in love, not anger meant,

To win our souls, to Heaven—

For this only were they sent.

And when we've reached that glorious home,

Forever safe—Forever blest;

With all our dear ones ne'er to part—

We'll shout in joy—"Thou, knew the best!"

MRS. A. P. ALLIS,
May 17th, 1902. Paris, Ky.

HE HATED LONG PRAYERS.

And Well He Might After His Amazing Experience.

"It happened," said the colonel, "that there were two colored preachers inhabiting cells in the penitentiary at Frankfort at the same time. If I remember aright, both were sentenced for polygamy, but old Sam was a Methodist parson, while old Jake was of the Baptist faith. It seems that Sam had done something to greatly offend the warden, and the punishment decided on was an old fashioned lashing. Some weeks after the affair came off the Rev. Sam, whom I had known from boyhood, was telling me about it.

"I didn't mind de whipping so much, Mars Jack, ef it hadn't been for de way old Jake acted. You see, de warden he said to me: 'Sam, I's gwine to whip you, and 'low de whipping will do you a whole heap uv good. I's gwine to let old Jake pray for you, and de blows will continue to fall on your back hild while Jake's pra'r is a-go'in' on. When he comes to a final stop den de punishment will likewise end."

"Land sakes, Mars Jack, I knowed it was all up wid me den, for dat ignorant old nigger never did know when it was time to get up off'n his knees! De fac' dat a po' human bein' was in distress wasn't gwine to make a bit uv difference wid him. Well, sir, it was jes' like I 'spected it'd be. Dey brought me out, and old Jake, de old villin, started in, and as fast as he prayed de warden come down on me wid a whip dat cut like a knife. I never did want to hear a pra'r come to an end so bad in my life, but it weren't any use. Every time I thought he was mos' through old Jake took a fresh hold, and down come de licks harder'n ever. Shortly it seemed to me like he prayed a month, and, Mars Jack, I wants to tell you right now dat I am sot against long pra'rs for de rest uv my life." — Washington Post.

ROTTEN COTTON GLOVES.

The Origin of a One Time Popular Slang Phrase.

The origin of "rotten cotton gloves," a phrase which for some years belonged to the slang of England and America, is worth relating. At a time when John le Hay was playing at the Prince of Wales' he was "commanded" to give his ventriloquial performance at a birthday entertainment at Sandringham.

His two figures, the usual squeaky old lady and the usual rude old man, had been newly dressed for the occasion, that their clothes might not suffer too keenly by comparison with the rich surroundings. But when Mr. le Hay had placed them in position and was about to begin his "show" he found to his disgust that his costumer had forgotten to change the old man's dirty cotton gloves for a pair of new kids.

The tone of shabbiness this gave to the male figure was too conspicuous to be ignored by poor Mr. le Hay, and in an eternal half minute his quick wit found a way out of the trouble for him.

"A nice thing," remarked the male doll, looking around at the royal audience with alarm, "bringing me to a swell house like this in these terrible gloves."

This caused so much amusement that the ventriloquist decided to make more of the "wheeze," and the badly behaved old gentleman's incessant grumble throughout the entertainment, "rotten cotton gloves," proved one of the chief successes of the evening.

The "line" was in all Mr. le Hay's subsequent performances in America as well as in England, and if, say, a man had had a bad deal in Wall street or in Throgmorton avenue it was the usual thing to say that he had a "rotten cotton deal." — London M. A. P.

A Bad Change.

While holding a term of court at Augusta once Judge Walton sentenced a man to seven years in prison for a grave crime. The respondent's counsel asked for a mitigation of the sentence on the ground that the prisoner's health was very poor. "Your honor," said he, "I am satisfied that my client cannot live out half that term, and I beg of you to change the sentence." "Well, under those circumstances," said the judge, "I will change the sentence. I will make it for life instead of seven years." It is almost needless to add that the respondent chose to abide by the original sentence, which the judge permitted him to elect. — Argonaut.

Fine Old Spanish Emeralds.

"Fine old Spanish emeralds" is a phrase which means something quite different from what it seems to imply. There never was an emerald mined in Spain, but after the conquest of Peru the conquerors brought home great quantities of loot, of which emeralds formed an important part. In this way the finest emeralds came into possession of the old Spanish families, and as very few had been seen in Europe previous to that time all the best stones soon became classed as fine old Spanish emeralds. Today the expression still applies to the best emeralds of any source.

Death Signs In Holland.

The outward signs on the houses where some one has died in north Holland are original in the extreme. When the dead person is a Protestant, a long black mantle such as the undertaker wears when he goes to the grave is hung in the middle of the front door. In the case of a Roman Catholic a tall black cross is placed on the doorstep.

A Slight Error.

When the telegraph operator took the telegram from the queen's drummer asking the house what special articles it could quote "in the vase line," he omitted the space between the two principal words. Thus the drummer never could explain to the boss how he happened to wire home for prices on "vaseline," as if he were traveling for a drug house. — Chicago News.

"If the human race was evolved from monkeys, it at least has the satisfaction of knowing that its remote ancestors were intelligent," said the thoughtful thinker.

"How's that?" asked the dense one.

"They were educated in the highest branches," explained the T. T.

"How is your daughter succeeding on the stage?" asked a solicitous neighbor. "Fine! Fine!" replied the girl's mother. "Is she going to be starred soon?" "Oh, dear, me, no! Her talents don't lie that way at all. She's going to marry a millionaire." — Detroit Free Press.

"I have a serious criticism to offer against this exquisite little sonnet, entitled 'The Charge of the Light Brigade,'" said Roudolph Rhner, producing his monthly gas bill.

"How is that?" asked the cashier. "Well, you see, the meter is wrong." — Luck.

"So your boy Josh has become an inventor?"

"Yes," answered Farmer Cornstossel. "He has invented a lot of labor saving devices."

"What are they?" "Excuses for not working." — Washington Star.

A felon of the name of Hogg once appealed to the witty Sir Nicholas Bacon and besought him to spare him on the score of relationship, "for," said he, "hog is akin to bacon."

"But," answered Sir Nicholas, "hog is not bacon until it is hung. Until you are hung you are no relation of mine."

England's Oldest Canal.

The oldest canal in England was originally a Roman cutting—the Foss dike—running its 11 miles from Lincoln to the Trent, near Torksey. Deepened in the time of King Henry I, it was allowed to decay until 1840, when the Edinburgh Stevensons both widened and deepened it.

We made it. — Cleve land Leader.

The Amateur Gunner.

"Ma," asked the little rabbit, "is it true that pa was shot by an amateur gunner?" "Not at all!" snorted the mother rabbit, scornfully; "the gunner was shooting at something else, while your poor father sat behind him and laughed. Unfortunately the gun kicked, and the man sat down on your father and killed him."

Goat's $15,000 Meal.

A peasant followed by a goat walked into the local bank at Aurillac to pay in some money. As he was going out a clerk noticed that the goat had a piece of paper in his mouth. He waited over the counter and caught the animal just in time to prevent it swallowing a bond worth $15,000 which it had nibbled off the counter.

Nurseries and Influences.

Countries and families are but nurseries and influences. A man is a father, a brother, a German, a Roman, an American; but beneath all these relations, he is a man. The end of his human destiny is not to be the best German, or the best Roman, or the best father, but the best man he can be. — George William Curtis.

FUNNY POINTS IN LAW

Odd Problems With Which Courts Have Had to Wrestle.

A QUEER QUESTION OF TIME.

Curious Provision In an Eccentric Man's Will Upon Which Hinge the Settlement of an Estate—Are, Duck Eggs Eggs, and Is Skimmilk Milk?

One of the strangest problems ever submitted to the decision of the law was that growing out of the disposition of the property of an Englishman, the father of twin sons. It appears that this eccentric owned extensive tracts of land in Australia, the great part of which he stipulated in his will should go to the first of the two sons to attain the age of twenty-one years.

The younger of the sons had emigrated to Australia, while his brother remained in England, it so happening that they were in opposite quarters of the globe when they came of age. The fine point involved in the case was this: Australian time is some hours in advance of Greenwich, and therefore the claim was made that the young man in Australia reached his majority before his brother at home had done likewise. Which of the two brothers was legally entitled to the property? The question is yet unsettled and bids fair to afford employment for the exercise of lawyers' wits for many years to come.

Another hard nut for the lawyers to crack was presented by a case tried in Indiana some years ago. The question was in substance, Are eggs eggs, or are only hens' eggs eggs? Larders at this may seem, the point involved some nice shades of meaning in these words, sufficient indeed to carry the case through several courts.

A man had ordered of his grocer one dozen eggs. He sent ducks' eggs. These were returned as not being what the customer had asked for, but the grocer refused to take them back. The customer, in turn, declined to receive the eggs, and they were sent back and forth so frequently for several days, during which they became bad, that finally the grocer deemed himself justified in entering suit against the customer for the value of the goods.

The magistrate before whom the case was first tried ordered the customer to pay, declaring, ridiculous as it may seem, that ducks' eggs were as much eggs as any others. The man appealed from this, and the next court reversed the decision on the ground that such an order as the one in question tacitly implied hens' eggs, it being pointed out that if any other contention was allowed any kind of eggs might be sent, such as pigeons' canaries' or even snakes' eggs. That settled it.

In a case in a southern court this interesting question once came up: Are the grandchildren of a man also his children? In the legal sense this question is not so funny as it seems, inasmuch as it has been seriously contended not only in the United States, but in Great Britain as well, what they are.

Is skimmed milk milk? This point grew out of a case tried in Arkansas not very long ago. A man had asked at a dairy for a glass of milk to drink and was given skimmed milk, for which at the customer's complaint, the dairyman was fined. In a higher court, however, this decision was reversed, it being contended that skimmed milk was really much more milk than milk that was not skimmed, for the reason that the latter contained something that was not milk at all—viz. cream.

Some of the oddest points at law are those growing out of the tender passion. A judge in a western court was once called on to determine the hour at which evening courtship should cease. The circumstances were these:

A merchant had become much concerned at the late hour at which his daughter's lover lingered with her at the parental abode and so sought the aid of the law to expedite the young man's time of departure.

In delivering his decree the learned judge declared that 11 o'clock p. m. was the latest hour at which any young man, fiancé or not, should be tolerated in the young woman's home and that after such hour the parents would be entirely justified in forcibly ejecting him.

A queer case once turned up in a New England town. A young man had embraced his sweetheart so vigorously that he seriously injured her ribs. If he suffered any mental anguish as the result of this contretemps, so likewise did he suffer in pocket, for as the result of an action brought against him by the young woman the youth was fined in the sum of $500 damages for the injury done the girl's ribs.

New England also affords this amusing case: A young Lothario of Maine during the course of his courtship was each evening lovably entertained at supper by his sweetheart. Some time afterward, his ardor cooling, the young man sought other fields to conquer. Then what should the young woman do but sue the young man who had been so bountifully entertained for obtaining the supper on false pretences. And, what is more, she succeeded in getting a judgment—Edwin Tatnell in New York Tribune.

An Exception.

Little Joe—Say, papa, is it true that history repeats itself? Papa—So they say, my boy. Little Joe—Well, mine don't when I'm going to learn it—Exchange.

They ought to have said they don't when they can—Carlyle.

Kills His Wife.

Louis Pearce, a colored Baptist minister, aged 34 years, killed his wife at 9 o'clock Friday night near their home at Grifflintown, midway between Middletown and Anchorage, by striking her in the temple with an umbrella. Pearce, finding that he had fatally wounded the woman, hurried away from the scene and was captured at 8 o'clock Saturday at Bellwood Seminary by Albert Hite, a county patrolman. Pearce was brought to Louisville at 9 o'clock Saturday and lodged in the Jefferson county jail. A charge of murder was registered against him. Pearce claims that his wife had been guilty of infidelity.
